

On tour from Scotland – Jim and Susie
Malcolm – Biography

For the past 30 years and more, Jim Malcolm has been the ultimate Scots troubadour, taking the traditional songs of Scotland and his own prizewinning compositions to all corners of the UK and around almost every state in the USA. His voice is one of the finest in Scotland, and his mellifluous guitar playing is the perfect accompaniment. He plays mouthorgan to a standard you'll rarely hear. Jim was voted Songwriter of the Year in the Scots Trad Music Awards, and was nominated three times for Scots Singer of the Year. He has 15 solo CDs to his credit, and has appeared on countless others, including three albums with the world-renowned Old Blind Dogs, from his eight years as their frontman. Old Blind Dogs are famously King Charles' favorite Scottish band.

This year Jim has another trick up his sleeve, as his wife Susie joins him on stage. An award-winning traditional singer herself, Susie sings songs from the North East of Scotland and has a penchant for ballads. Their duo CDs have been called "a masterclass in Scottish traditional song". Together they offer harmonies and humour...tales from the road, the riverside and from the home front, and are not to be missed.
